TALKING PAPER

Call to Julie and David

Many people here have suggested that the President should go to the graduation at Julie's college. They feel it would affect the college badly if he were not to show up. This is an important decision that needs some careful thought. The plan here would be to go simply as one of the fathers, sit in the audience, do not speak or otherwise participate.

He knows that you have already discussed this with the college, but feels we should reopen the question and would like your judgment on it.

MEMORANDUM FOR: MRS. STUART

FROM: ALEXANDER P. BUTTERFIELD

The President understood completely your message on Christmas gifts which I relayed to him on December 24th. He asked, however, that you follow up on getting the rings for Mrs. Nixon and Tricia. Although he said nothing about a particular future occasion, I got the impression that he wanted the rings as soon as they can be made available.

Many thanks.

MEMORANDUM FOR: MR. CHOTINER
MR. DENT

As one of the long-range projects for the political group we need to consider the development of candidates in those districts where Senators or Congressmen are 70 years of age or over. The article in LIFE brings home this situation very vividly and this issue could become a very good one in the future. While districts like George Miller's and Bill Colmer's are both considered hopelessly Democratic, we need to realize that both are 80 years of age or will be by the time they run next time. They will probably retire and a vacuum could be created which we could fill. At least a study should be made of all these districts and special attention should be made to developing good candidates to take the incumbents on if they do not retire and, of course, to run for the post if they do retire. On the other side of this coin - we must use our influence more effectively in the future to get our 70-year old people to retire gracefully. Senators Scott and Margaret Smith are cases in point -- both are 70. George Murphy, of course, will have the age problem plaguing him in this campaign and we can only hope he will survive it. Effective party leadership requires that we examine all of these cases and be ready for a contingency plan to deal with them in the future.

It is surprising to note that no one has talked with Jack Olson on the Senate race in Wisconsin. He is the Nixon man in Wisconsin and is going to be the next Governor. He has some very strong ideas as to who might be the Senate candidate. Please see that whoever has the responsibility for Wisconsin talks with him immediately and gets his views as to what would best serve his interests as far as a Senate candidate is concerned. He also may have some views as to what we should do on Knowles. As has been suggested several times, we ought to find out what Knowles might want to do and make some offer to him.

Our problem here is that our people are dealing with Secretary Laird. The Secretary really has no interest in the State at large, and it is time we started talking directly with Olson and take him as the leadership man in that State.

FROM THE PRESID ENT

I was rather surprised to note that in our conversation on the Senate races that no one had talked to Jack Olson. He is the Nixon man in Wisconsin and is going to be the next Governor and has some very strong ideas as to who might be the Senate candidate. This shows rather unusual stupidity for us to have failed to have talked with him. Will you see that whoever has responsibility for Wisconsin talks to him immediately and gets his views as to what would best serve his interests as far as a Senate candidate is concerned. He also may have some views as to what we should do on Knowles. On several occasions I have suggested that we ought to find out what Knowles might want to do and make some offer to him. MEMORANDUM FOR : MR. CHAPIN

The President is concerned that we are not handling the tipping process properly when he dines out.

For example last night at LeCote Basque the check was signed and the tip was put on the check. This should not be done. The tips should be given in cash. The head waiters involved in overseeing the seating, etc., should get $10, the wine steward should get $5, and the waiters serving the President should get very substantial tips totalling about 25% of the check. It is perfectly proper to sign the check itself, because as you know, frequently the restaurant will complement it, but always the tips should be given in cash and should be generous.
